Service time - Sunday 10 am

ULVERSTONE

BAPTIST CHURCH

So, as the Holy Spirit says:
"Today, if you hear his voice, do not harden your hearts..."
Hebrews 3:7-8a

What a significant and spiritual encouragement this verse is for all of us who desire to hear the voice of the Holy Spirit. It is not something that happens naturally. Our growth in discerning God's voice in various forms and ways demonstrates how essential and important it is to hear.

So, my first thought is, do you have the desire to listen? That is why the Holy Spirit says, "If you hear his voice today". This decision is ultimately our choice. A choice to be open and ready enough to hear and listen. The second truth here reveals that listening equates to taking in, considering, and putting His word into action to prevent our hearts' from hardening. The context is in testing how easily our hearts fail to heed in the wilderness (in our trial or challenging situation).

May we be reminded that God's word realises life. His voice speaking into our hearts, protects, guides, releases blessing over us, and calls us into deeper, stronger, and fresh relational spaces with our Lord and Saviour every day.

God bless you as you discern the voice of the Holy Spirit in your life today, this week and for 2023.
May you receive this word in faith and with expectation.

TUCK Update

The local churches met together and have decided to pool our resources and support an already established meal ministry that is offered by the Anglican Church through the "Cup of Kindness" ministry.

Recognising their existing networks and connection with agencies it should make for an exciting opportunity for the partnering churches and the community to build into.

Please pray for this meal ministry and consider how and where you can serve in this program.

To show your interest in being involved contact Barb at the Anglican Church

It is difficult to imagine the local church ever reaching its purpose in Christ without some form of group synergy. That is what life groups are all about. They take you on the journey that unites the corporate life and your individual calling simultaneously.

We are reviewing our life group's structure, redirecting our mission emphasis and re-engaging once again to the kingdom mission. My hope is you will join us in the mission together. Think about how you could be involved in a life group. We are looking for leaders and host homes. If that is you, please talk with me.
God bless you, Louis
